

SMART TIPS FOR Effective Learning

SUIT YOUR LEARNING STYLE AND OBJECTIVES

Based on your learning goals, select the type of study material that serves your learning style and preferences best.

LOOK FOR INTERACTIVE FORMATS

Look for information and learning options that are personalized, interactive, and project-based. If the material offers variety and interactivity to keep you engaged, you will achieve your learning goals quicker.

QUICK LEARNING

Look for on-demand learning libraries which are easily accessible and provide free/paid courses and tutorials that give quick solutions to tough problems.

EFFECTIVE READING

Sometimes blogs, trade magazines and other publications give you useful insights and real-case scenarios. Look for authors and thought leaders who share best practices.

COLLABORATIVE AND SOCIAL LEARNING

Communities and social platforms are stronger than ever before. Reach out to people who have already been through your challenges. Team up with a friend or colleague with similar learning goals to collaboratively churn the study materials and help you avoid too much delay.
